STAMPED ENVELOPES ARE BEHIND THE DEMAND Shortage of Paper and Skilled Labo Hits Uncle Sam.

Postmasters are receiving notification from Washington that the stamped envelope department is somewhat behind in the production of printed envelopes on account of unusually heavy requisitions and difficulty in obtaining paper and a sufficient force of operatives in the existing shortage of skilled labor. For the present, therefore, the department has suspended the furnishing of printed "office request" envelopes and the requisitions of all postoffices are cancelled. This condition applies only to the "office request" envelopes and not to "special request" envelopes bearing the printed return card of the purchaser, which will continue to be furnished. The department hopes that by temporarily suspending shipments of "office requist" envelopes the factors. Yacht Elena Champion.

Yachting experts have agreed upon the schooner yacht Elena, until recently the property of Commodore M. F. Plant, as the star schooner of the yachting season. The Elena was recently sold by Commodore Plant to Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Not only did the Elena win the two big trophies of the year, the Astor and the King's cups, but also added to her prizes the cups offered in the New York Yacht club's by the vice and the rear commodores and the ocean race against the Katoura for the Cape May cup. It was a remarkable season for the Elena, which met and defeated all the fastest schooner yachts in the country.
